Worldview Entertainment was an American motion picture finance company focused on theatrical-quality feature films for worldwide distribution. The company produced 💹 over 20 films, including Fox Searchlight's critically acclaimed hit Birdman, which was nominated for nine Academy Awards, winning four Oscars, 💹 including Best Picture, and grossed more than R$100 million in global box office revenue.
History [edit]
Worldview Entertainment was founded in 💹 2007 by Chairman and CEO, Christopher Woodrow,[1] and Maria Cestone. Molly Connors joined the company in 2009 as COO. Worldview 💹 Entertainment signed with Creative Artists Agency (CAA) in 2010 and has since become the agency's top film finance and production 💹 client. Sarah E. Johnson, daughter of Franklin Resources Chairman, Charles B. Johnson, became a partner and investor in the company 💹 in 2011. Worldview established a four-year R$30 million credit facility with Comerica in 2013 to provide debt financing for the company's 💹 films, which coincided with the infusion of R$40 million in new equity from existing investors. The R$70 million doubled the company's capital 💹 base.
The company's first film was William Friedkin's black comedy, Killer Joe, which it financed along with Voltage Pictures in 2010. 💹 The film premiered at the 2011 Venice Film Festival before making its North American debut at the Toronto International Film 💹 Festival, where it was sold domestically to LD Entertainment in one of the biggest sales at the festival. The film 💹 was distributed theatrically in the summer of 2012, with star Matthew McConaughey receiving a nomination for an Independent Spirit Award 💹 as Best Male Lead.
Worldview's 2012 slate included three films that premiered at the 2013 Cannes Film Festival including the Guillaume 💹 Canet crime thriller , Blood Ties, which was the biggest domestic sale at the festival, after being purchased by Lionsgate and 💹 Roadside Attractions; and James Gray's period drama, The Immigrant which was sold domestically to The Weinstein Company
