From a strictly financial point of view, the value of a football club can be evaluated based on everything. "Enterprise Value" (EV), which considers the company's future cash flows, is not exactly the same as the price negotiated for the company in the market or the price of the company's shares. According to a specialized consulting company, the value of the market of the 32 clubs participating in the UEFA Champions League for 2024 varied between 275 million and 3.2 billion euros. However, it is important to note that these estimates are specific to European clubs or can be directly compared to other teams. In summary, the value of Corinthians is difficult to evaluate precisely, but it was one of the most successful and valuable teams in Brazil and South America. The tragedy was less the result of the individual's reflex than the inevitable turn of the wheel of Fortune. In the end, fortune, traditionally feminine because of its association with women, the moon, and mutability, is often depicted with women's outstretched arms.
